SKETCH OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA . . .

Everywhere you go people talk about the weather but in Nebraska they talk about the weather and the University of Nebraska Cornhuskers.

On autumn Saturdays virtually every radio in the state is on a station carrying the Cornhusker games and when Nebraska cowpokes, farmers, or smart shop sales girls ask, "How we doin'?" they really mean "we" because every Nebraskan considers himself a Cornhusker, personally.

This may sound like Nebraskans are dippy over football. They are. But there is more to it than that. The University and the State of Nebraska have grown up together and the experience has developed an uncommonly strong bond of interest between the citizens and the school.

It hasn't been easy for either the University or the State to grow up in a 77,000 square-mile area that less than a hundred years ago was considered desert and wild Indian country.

But today the University, which was founded in 1869, has a modern physical plant valued at more than $50 million.

More than 80,000 young people have sought knowledge in the University's lecture halls and laboratories. From a mere handful of instructors, the faculty has grown to its present size of nearly 600. And from the dozen courses of early days has grown a curriculum which offers a student a choice of nearly 2,000 subjects.

The background of the average student at the University is closely related with agriculture. Most students were either reared on a farm or ranch, attended a rural or small-town school, and they have more than a passing acquaintance with saddle horses, combines, windmills, cattle and barbed wire fences.

As a result of the agricultural influence and background, there are many events at the University that may be seen only in the great Midwest. Students at the College of Agriculture hold their annual Farmers Fair, complete with parade, barbecue, milking contest for girls, dance, and even a full size rodeo.

The life of the University itself consists of three principal duties—teaching, research, and services.

In the teaching department, the University is composed of 9 colleges and four schools. Present enrollment averages about 9,000 a semester. Students are, of course, mainly from Nebraska, but every state in the Union is represented in the student body and students are enrolled from 44 foreign conutries.

Integrated with the everyday life of Nebraska citizens are the public services of the University. The Agricultural Extension Service sponsors about 30,000 meetings for homemakers during the year and for 4-H Youth Clubs, farmers, ranchers and other groups, with a combined attendance of 650,000.

Another important service agency is the Extension Division, which annually gives instruction by correspondence and evening classes to 18,000 persons. The University's extension enrollment is second largest among the Nation's educational institutions.

The University is guided in all of these efforts by Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin, who was appointed to the position in July, 1954.

Looking to the future, the University has now under construction a $3 million Nebraska Center for Continuing Education, which will serve adult education in Nebraska and the Great Plains Region. The structure is being financed by a state-wide fund drive and a grant from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Mich. The University also will begin construction soon on a $3 million Sheldon Art Gallery, a gift of the A. B. and Frances Sheldon estates, and on a $2 million Eppley Institute for Cancer Research and Allied Diseases.

Other facts about the University:

The University Libraries have a collection of 650,000 catalogued volumes, 700,000 bibliographical units, 46,000 maps and aerial photographs, and about one million pamphlets and manuscripts.

A study made by Who's Who showed that the University ranked ninth among all state universities in number of alumni in Who's Who. The present edition of "Who's Who in Engineering" shows the University 's College of Engineering and Architecture ranking second of 475 schools in the nation in percentage of alumni regarded as outstanding engineers.

The University Museum of Natural History is the finest in the country. It is noted particularly for its great Hall of Elephants and the skeleton of the Lincoln County Mammoth, which stands 14 feet at the shoulders making it the largest recorded fossil elephant in existence. More than 200,000 persons visit the Museum annually.

The University's main campus is at the north edge of Lincoln's downtown business district and includes a tract of 125 acres. The College of Agriculture campus is at the northeast edge of the City, and the College of Medicine campus is in Omaha.

COACHING ASSIGNMENTS. . .

Coach Bill Jennings listed these assignments for the assistant coaches:

LeRoy Pearce, ends and defensive backfield.
Dick Monroe, defensive linebackers.
George Kelly, offensive line.
Don Scarbrough, defensive line.

PREVIEW OF 1960 CORNHUSKER FOOTBALL TEAM . . . .

For the first time in many seasons, Nebraska Coach Bill Jennings can start a letterman at every position.

Added depth and experience probably was the basis for Coach Jennings' statement:

"We should be a better football team. We are improved but so is the entire Big Eight Conference.

"Our spring drill was excellent. You never get everything done in the spring that you would like to do but the willingness of our lads to work and learn was encouraging.

"We will throw more this season. Competition has made better individuals and this fall we are able to field a much better balanced squad."

With what appears to be a more talented offensive crew the Cornhusker staff decided to pull all the stops. From the split-T's "three yards and a cloud of dust," the Huskers now come out in the slot or pro offense with split ends, flankers and all the trimmings.

There are two reasons for this revision to a wide open battle plan. Coach Jennings believes he has four quarterbacks who can throw a bit better than average, and two of them can tuck the ball and run on the pass-run option.

Secondly, Nebraska followers like the derring-do offensive tactics. This was demonstrated a year ago when the Huskers gambled on a fourth down situation and failed. But the stands roared approval of this far-out-from-the-vest maneuver.

Experiments made in spring practice were successful, in the opinion of the coaches.

Bill (Thunder) Thornton, fullback a year ago, was switched to left halfback. Thornton individually gained twice as many yards as the Alumni team was able to travel in the spring game. Thunder ran a second half kickoff 100 yards to score and help the Varsity to the largest point total it has ever been able to run up on the Old Timers. The final score was 35 to 20.

Thornton, much stronger than a year ago when infected teeth cut his weight to 185, is now (sans the teeth) carrying 202 pounds of good solid poundage. The added displacement has not slowed his tremendously quick takeoff.

Replacing Pat Fischer at quarterback, Don Fricke at center and Roland McDole at tackle were among the toughest problems confronting the coaching staff.

A three-way scrap was waged through spring practice for the signal-calling post. Two lettermen, Ron Meade and John Faiman, plus Dennis Claridge, held out last season because of a technicality, form the top three bidders. Meade, the only senior in the group, does the extra point and field goal kicking. He has hit 16 of 23 PAT's and five field goals, several of which were the margin of victory for the Cornhuskers, in the past two seasons.

Both Claridge and Faiman are built on bigger frames than Meade. Each is 6-2 and weighs more than 190 pounds. Claridge and Faiman have the ability to scamper when their receivers are covered on pass option plays.

Two other position changes, Bill Comstock from end to fullback and George Haney from guard to center, also added to the spring efficiency which saw the Huskers go from an orthodox split-T to the pro offense.

The fullback situation may leave something to be desired unless Noel Martin's twice-operated knee responds. Martin, a high school All America from Clay Center, Kansas, was handicapped last fall by the knee. He was wed during the summer to Vicki Jennings, daughter of Coach Jennings.

Gene Ward has been shifted from halfback to fullback to bolster this spot. Ward is a letterman.

Bernie Clay, Quincy, Ill., missed spring drills, but will pick up some scholastic deficiencies in summer school and is expected to report in the fall. He again will be stationed at right halfback along with another letterman, Dennis Stuewe of Hamburg, Minn. Stuewe bloomed in the spring as a pass catcher. He also is stout defensively.

Pat Clare, who, along with Center Mick Tingelhoff and End ~~Jim~~ Don Purcell ~~Dooge~~, will serve as tri-captains, will be running at left halfback.

Don Purcell tops the best set of ends the Cornhuskers have had recently. Strength at the wings was indicated when Comstock was moved to the fullback slot. He was one of the Huskers' better defenders last fall from the end position. Comstock played fullback in high school.

To offset the Comstock move, Chuck Doepke was moved from the backfield to end. He showed an excellent ability to catch passes.

Question marks are abounding around the fullback and right halfback spots but other than these two positions the Huskers appear well accoutred.

Of the 56 players on the varsity list, 11 are seniors; 18 juniors and 27 sophomores. Going into fall drills the three-deep were:

BATTLE FOR QUARTERBACK

One of the real scraps expected to develop in the fall will be a four-way vendetta for the signal calling post. Two lettermen, Ron Meade and John Faiman will be bidding along with Ron Gilbreath and Dennis Claridge. Gilbreath was a late developer in the spring, indicating a real ability to get rid of a pass accurately when the pressure is greatest.

PLAYER SKETCHES . . . .

LEFT ENDS

Donald Robert (Don or Percy) Purcell), senior letterman from Omaha Benson led the Huskers in playing minutes last fall with 447. Will serve as tri-captain of this year's eleven. He is one of toughest players on team, giving 100 per cent all the time.

James Stewart (Jim) Huge, missed part of last season with an injury. A junior letterman from Holdrege, he went out for basketball last winter after Coach Jerry Bush's squad was reduced by various difficulties. A member of Innocent's Society, Huge is a top student as well as an outstanding athlete.

Dick Callahan, a red-haired sophomore from Sioux Falls, S. D., he was given a shot at fullback during spring drills to see what he could do. Jennings said he proved adequate at fullback and could be used there if necessary.

LEFT TACKLES

Robert Eugene Jones, junior letterman from West Point, the husky 6-2½, 206-pounder saw considerable action last fall. Was No. 1 left tackle at the conclusion of spring drills. He was an all-state tackle his senior year in high school and a performer in the Nebraska Shrine game. Bob earned four letters each in football and track and three in basketball at West Point.

Edward Levine Mitchell, gives Nebraska a pair of huge sophomore tackles when he teams with Bob Brown at the tackle slots. Ed is 6-4½ and tips the scales at 245. A knee operation sidelined him during the final days of spring practice. He was an all-state performer in both football and track at Galveston, Texas. His hobbies are swimming and hunting.

Monte George (Kiff) Kiffin, saw a great deal of action during spring drills and his performances were impressive. He has been bothered by a back injury that has kept him out of action. If back is okay, Kiffin could be a standoutt in the line for the Huskers. The 6-3, 217-pounder from Lexington has a great deal of desire and wants to play. He played in All-American football game at Memphis, Tenn., and in all-star game in Pennsylvania while in high school. Received Nebraska athlete of the year award after earning all-state honors in both football and basketball.

LEFT GUARDS

Dwain Carl Carlson, Fullerton High School graduate got his chance late in the season last fall and made the most of it to wind up as No. 1 left guard at conclusion of spring sessions. He earned three letters each in football, basketball, track and baseball. Swimming is his favorite hobby.

Dallas Dyer, another member of the outstanding Lexington High team that was undefeated and unscored on. He has played nearly everywhere for Coach Bill Jennings, but ended spring drills at left guard. Dyer reported late for spring practice because of baseball.

Corwin Redell (Pete) Bishop, came to Nebraska as an end but has been moved to the left guard slot. He was an all-state honorable mention as an end at Wichita High School. A 6-3, 205-pounder, he also lettered in baseball and basketball at Wichita.

CENTERS

Henry Michael (Mick) Tingelhoff, a two-letter winner, this senior from Lexington will serve as a tri-captain for the 1961 campaign. He was second team center and understudy to Don Fricke last year, but has taken over the No. 1 spot now. The Lexington High standout was all-American, all-state and all-conference as a prepster. Mick plans to coach after graduation.

George Bernard (Animal) Haney, was moved from left tackle to center during spring drills to give added depth to that spot. He lettered as a tackle last fall. A transfer from Georgia Tech, he has lettered twice for the Huskers and also played service ball where he says he had his greatest thrill. He played opposite a former pro player and suffered a broken thumb and slight concussion, but played 50 minutes and was voted outstanding lineman in the game.

Lyle (Zit) Dean Sittler, a high school fullback at Crete he was moved to center at Nebraska. Says his greatest thrill was playing in the Nebraska Shrine Game. "It not only was a thrill playing with all the all-stars, but also knowing what the game was played for," Lyle says.

RIGHT GUARDS

Tyrone Robertson, an all-city guard at Libbey High School in Toledo, he developed into one of the top sophs on the squad last fall and continued to improve during spring practice. Has added about 10 pounds since last fall and now weighs 204. He is 5-11.

Gary Donald Toogood, a scrappy fellow who transferred from College of Pacific and shared the top billing with Robertson at right guard last fall. A cousin of former Husker great Charley Toogood, he was an all-American, all-coast and all-P.A.L., at Capuchino High in San Bruno, Calif.

Jed David Rood, the Columbus, Ohio, junior reported late for spring drills after giving baseball a try last spring. The 6-0, 187-pounder lettered in basketball, baseball and golf in addition to football at Columbus High.

RIGHT TACKLES

Robert Brown, one of top sophomores on team this Cleveland, Ohio, native gives Huskers some heft in line. The 6-4½, 245-pounder was impressive during spring drills and should cause some trouble among opposing runners this fall.

Richard Allan (Al) Fischer, returned to tackle after a brief try at guard a year ago. He was all-state tackle two times as a prepster at Princeton, Minn. A broken leg sidelined him for most of 1960 campaign.

Clarence Osentowski, a husky 6-foot, 230-pounder from Ord, he could press Brown and Fischer for the top spot after he gains a little more experience. Also lettered in track at Ord.

Lloyd John Voss, an all-state end at Magnolia, Minn., his senior year in high school, he was moved to the tackle slot at Nebraska. Stands 6-3½ and tips the scales at 214 pounds. He earned four letters each in football, basketball and track at Magnolia.

RIGHT ENDS

Richard Arlen (Dick or Mac) McDaniel, a two-year letterman, he is winding up his college career after never having played high school football. He played four years of service ball while being stationed at Ft. Campbell, Ky., and Munich, Germany as a paratrooper. Dick was a member of the all-Army Airborne Champions in 1954. He is married and majoring in business administration.

Patrick John (Slaz, Pat or Pisano) Salerno, a senior letterman, he passed up spring drills to play baseball. The 6-1, 189-pounder was an all-state and all-city end at Omaha Central. He earned three letters each in football and baseball and two in basketball at Central. Pat is a top scholar. Music is his hobby as he plays the trombone, guitar and ukelele and also sings.

Larry Richard Donovan, a 6-0, 176-pounder, missed spring practice to pole vault for Coach Sevigne's track squad. Larry was an all-state end at Scottsbluff High School, played in the Nebraska Shrine game and was a Gold Medal winner in track. His hobby is water skiing.

Charles Roger (Chuck) Doepke, an all-state halfback at Waterloo (Ia.) West High School, was moved to end during spring drills. He was impressive as a pass catcher in intrasquad games during the spring. Stands 6-1 and weighs 183 pounds. Fishing is his hobby.

QUARTERBACKS

Dennis B. Claridge, was held out of competition last season after a technicality caused him to miss the first two games. He showed an ability to run as well as pass during spring sessions. A native of Phoenix, Ariz., Dennis competed at Robbinsdale, Minn., and was named the outstanding back in the Minnesota North-South all star high school game. He carries two of the oddest nicknames on the squad. He is known as "Tortilla" or "Charley Woo."

John Faiman, Jr., a junior letterman from Omaha South, is big and stout for a quarterback at 6-2 and 190 pounds. Was an all-state quarterback in high school. His high school coach was Cletus Fischer, presently an assistant coach for the Huskers.

Ron Duane Meade, the Canby, Minn., native is the Husker field goal and extra point specialist and will give Claridge and Faiman a battle for the top signal-calling post. Majoring in math.

LEFT HALFBACKS

William Albert (Thunder) Thornton, the Huskers leading ball carrier at fullback last fall, he was moved to left half during the spring to take advantage of his speed and give him more opportunity to break loose. An added 15 pounds didn't seem to bother his speed as he was named the outstanding varsity player in the Alumni-Varsity game last Spring. He thrilled the crowd with a 100-yard kickoff return for a touchdown in the second half.

Patrick Eugene Clare, will share the bulk of the left halfback duties with Thornton. He was number one at this spot a year ago, allowing the switch of Pat Fischer to quarterback. Pat is a tri-captain of this year's squad and is one of the top scholars on the team. A graduate of Sioux City (Ia.) East High School, he plans to enter medical school.

Warren A. Powers, a steady performer last season, the 6-0, 181-pounder from Kansas City, Mo., will give Nebraska depth at the halfback posts as he can play either halfback spot. He was a quarterback at Lillis High School in Kansas City and was an all-state choice.

RIGHT HALFBACKS

Dennis Howard Stuewe, completed spring drills as number one at this position. The 6-0, 179-pounder from Hamburg, Minn., lettered last year as a sophomore. He lettered in football, basketball, track and baseball as a prepster.

Rudolph (Rudy) Johnson, was a starter for the Husker frosh in both games last fall after being moved from fullback to right halfback. The 5-11, 183-pounder captained the Aransas Pass (Tex.) High School football and track team and was a member of the Student Council. He is majoring in dentistry.

Willie James (Twister) Ross, was an all-stater in both football and basketball at Helena (Ark.) High School. He showed considerable speed during spring drills and should give the Huskers some needed backfield speed.

FULLBACKS

William Wayne (Cotto or Bill) Comstock, an all-state fullback at Scottsbluff High School, was moved to end a year ago but was shifted back to the fullback slot during the spring and will likely remain there. He is brother of Don Comstock, Husker Orange Bowl star in 1955. Bill is taking a course in business administration with a major in accounting.

Noel Clint Martin, his availability depends on how well he recovers from knee operation that sidelined him during spring sessions. Missed most of last season with bad knees. Quick for his barrel-type build and excellent line backer defensively. A halfback in high school at Clay County Community school in Kansas, he played in the all-America game at Memphis.

Gene William Young, another product of Cleveland, Ohio, on the Husker squad, the 6-2, 208-pounder was number one fullback on last fall's unbeaten freshman eleven and should provide depth for the fullback spot on this fall's varsity. Works as a playground instructor in Cleveland during the summers.

George Kelly, native of Rockford, Ill., and a graduate of Notre Dame, joined the Nebraska coaching staff in time for spring practice. Kelly replaced Russ Faulkinberry. Kelly's prior coaching includes Marquette, St. Joseph High School in South Bend, Ind., and Central Catholic High School in South Bend.

Entered Notre Dame in 1949 after completing military service. Was not allowed to play football after his sophomore year because of the continual recurrence of injury suffered in service ball. He continued to attend squad meetings and practice sessions, however, to observe coaching techniques.

Kelly began his coaching career at Central Catholic High School while a senior at Notre Dame. He received a degree in physical education in 1953.

He is married and has three daughters.

Director of Concessions	L. F. (Pop) Klein
Senior Manager	Kendall Early

Bill Jennings, 42, is the twenty-fourth University of Nebraska head football coach since the first full-time mentor was hired in 1893.

Prior to serving as an assistant coach here, Jennings was backfield coach at the University of Oklahoma for seven years, resigning after the 1953 season to become associated with an oil company at Ft. Worth, Tex.

Jennings lived most of his life in Norman, Okla. He played end at Norman High where he was coached by Dewey "Snorter" Luster, head coach at Oklahoma from 1941 to 1945. He then played wingback and end for Tom Stidham's Sooners in 1938-'39-'40. He still holds several Sooner pass-catching records.

Playing in the East-West game in 1940, Jennings batted 1000 as a pass catcher, fielding all four tosses to him from Paul Christman.

Following his graduation, Jennings coached one year at Cushing (Okla.) High School. He then enlisted in the Marine Corps, serving from June, 1942 until 1946 when he joined the Oklahoma coaching staff.

Jennings developed several All-America backs while at Oklahoma, among them Quarterback Eddie Crowder, Fullback Buck McPhail and Halfback Billy Vessels.

When Jennings played for Coach Stidman's Sooners, he was known as "Twinkle Toes" because of his fancy footwork when loose in broken field. As a sophomore, he alternately played wingback and end on the all-victorious Sooner team that lost to Tennessee in the Orange Bowl.

Jennings didn't see action in that bowl game because of an injury. He had suffered a broken ankle during Oklahoma's final 28-0 win over Washington State.

Born March 13, 1918, Jennings holds B.A. and M.A. degrees from Oklahoma. A Presbyterian, he is married and has two daughters.

LeRoy Pearce carries the title of assistant head football coach at the University of Nebraska. He came here in January, 1958.

Pearce is a 1949 graduate of the University of Wyoming where he played under Bowden Wyatt. He served as an assistant to Wyatt for three years after graduation, then went to Arkansas when Wyatt took the head coaching job there.

He spent two years at Arkansas and two years at Tennessee as an assistant before going to Iowa State in 1957.

The 32-year-old coach lettered four years in football at Wyoming and one year in track. He is a native of Casper, Wyo. Pearce is married and has two children.

Richard Monroe, 37, assistant coach, is a 1949 graduate of the University of Kansas.

Monroe, who started as a high school coach at Atwood and Columbus, Kan., has been coaching at the college level for the past eight years. He was an assistant at Kansas and later at the University of Wichita.

Monroe served 41 months with the Air Force during World War II. He is not married.

Monroe, rated one of the all-time greats at center for the Jayhawk school, played for George Sauer when the latter coached at Kansas.

While at Wichita, Monroe served as "first lieutenant" for Coach Pete Tillman. During this span the Wheatshockers won two Missouri Valley championships.

Don Scarbrough, assistant coach, was head football and basketball coach at Northwestern State College, Alva, Okla., before coming here.

Scarbrough graduated from Altus, Okla., high school where he lettered in football, basketball and baseball. From 1942 until 1946 he served with the U. S. Navy.

In 1947-'49 he attended Cameron State Agricultural College at Lawton, Okla., lettering in football and basketball.

He was chosen as Cameron's best all-around athlete in 1949 and played with the Cameron Aggies in the Little Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, Calif.

Scarbrough received his B.S. degree from the University of Tulsa in 1951, lettering in football and basketball. He coached football and basketball at Healdton, Okla., high school for a year and a half and then became an assistant football coach at the University of Tulsa for two years.

Born Nov. 8, 1924, he married Rosa Lee Anderson of Marvell, Ark., in June, 1955. They have two children.

Jack Braley, member of Nebraska's Orange Bowl team in 1955, was named freshman coach when Warren Schmakel resigned to accept another coaching position at Rutgers. Braley, a 1956 graduate of the University of Nebraska, was named a fulltime member of the staff a year ago. He had helped the two previous seasons on a part time basis as he worked on a master's degree.

Braley, a native of Miles City, Mont., where he graduated from high school, lettered two years at end at Nebraska.

He is married to the former Carolyn Goetz. They have two sons.

Cletus Fischer, graduate of Nebraska, returned last spring to his alma mater, to coach the offensive backfield.

Clete was the first of four brothers to play for the Cornhuskers starting in 1945. He afterward coached at St. Edward, where he graduated from high school; at St. Bonaventure in Columbus, 1950-'55; Omaha South, 1955-'58; Midland, Tex., in 1959.

Fischer won city and state championships with his South eleven in 1957-'58.

After graduating from Nebraska, Fischer played a year with the New York Giants.

Fischer, 35, is married and the father of four sons and a daughter.

George L. Kelly, 33, Notre Dame graduate and assistant football coach at Marquette University since 1957, was added to the Nebraska staff last spring. He will handle the offensive line.

Kelly succeeds Russell Faulkinberry who resigned to accept the head coaching assignment at Southwestern Louisiana Institute at Lafayette, Ia.

Kelly is married and the father of three daughters. He served in the Army Medical Corps before entering Notre Dame in 1949. A recurring injury suffered in service football where he was chosen to the All-Service team forced him out of active participation in sophomore year at Notre Dame.

He attended all practice sessions and squad meetings from then on, however, because of his deep interest in the game. Kelly, born in Rockford, Ill., lettered four years at St. Thomas High in football and three years in basketball. In his senior year he captained the football team and was co-captain in basketball.

He was head coach at St. Joseph High School at South Bend, Ind., a school conducted by Notre Dame, from 1954 until he joined the Marquette staff in 1957.

His high school team won 28, lost 14 and tied two.

THUNDER THORNTON READY

Bill (Thunder) Thornton, somewhat sensational as a sophomore, is ready this fall to cut a footbabll niche in Cornhusker grid history. A native of Toledo, O., Thunder was an all-state fullback in Ohio in 1958. He was a representative to the student council during his high school career. Graduate of Libbey High, Thunder works for the Toledo recreation department in the summer vacation periods. His full name is William Albert Thornton and should be receiving national attention before this season ends.

ALL-TIME RECORDS . . . .

Although the going has been rough for the Cornhuskers the past 15 years, the overall record shows Nebraska winning 366 games, losing 218 and tying 38.

E. O. (Jumbo) Stiehm, who coached from 1911 through 1915, has the top record among the 24 coaches who have held the helm since 1890. He won 35, lost 2 and tied 3 for a mark of .913.

Next, from a percentage standpoint, was Walter C. (Bummy) Booth, 1900 through 1905. His teams won 52, lost 8 and tied 2.

CONFERENCE CHAMPIONS

Since 1928, when the Big Six Conference (now Big Eight) was formed, Oklahoma has won 15 clearcut titles and has tied twice for the top spot in football.

Nebraska is next with nine conference championships, but the last time the Cornhuskers tasted these sweet fruits of victory was in 1940.

Missouri has won five crowns, Kansas one title and has tied twice; and Kansas State has won once.

LONGEST VICTORY RUN . . . .

E. O. (Jumbo) Stiehm's Nebraska teams from 1912 through 1916 compiled the longest winning streak any Cornhusker elevens have ever registered. The "Stiehm Rollers" as they were called in those days compiled a run of 35 victories, marred only by one tie. University of Kansas broke the string in 1916 by a 7-3 score. That was E. J. (Doc) Stewart's first year as coach.

TOP FOOTBALL SCHOLARS. . . .

Pat Salerno, end from Omaha, who doubles as a baseball player, was the top scholar on the 1960 football squad based on an overall average. A perfect grade is 9.0.

Two of the Cornhusker tri-captains, Jim Huge and Pat Clare are on the list. They were named to the All-America scholastic team a year ago.

The list of top students on the squad included:

	'60-'61	Accumulated Average	College
Pat Salerno	7.91	7.258	Teachers
David Dodrill	7.00	7.000	Business
James Huge	6.87	6.775	Teachers
Richard Callahan	6.45	6.45	Business
Pat Clare	7.03	6.308	Sciences
Dwain Carlson	5.667	6.193	Business
Charles Doepke	5.969	5.969	Teachers
George Haney	6.50	5.919	Teachers
Larry Kramer	5.704	5.704	Teachers

SPRING GAME . . . .

The varsity pulled out a 35-20 decision over the alumni in the highest scoring game in the series.

Highlight of the win was a 100-yard kickoff return by Bill (Thunder) Thornton in the second half. Thornton was chosen the outstanding varsity player and Pat Fischer received the nod as the top alumni performer.

Passing was more evident as the varsity continued to stress a more wide-open offense. The first varsity score came on a one-yard plunge by Ron Meade. A 38-yard pass play from Dennis Claridge to Don Purcell gave the Varsity a 13-0 lead before the Alumni crossed the goal line.

A three-yard touchdown run by Fischer and a two-point PAT pulled the Alumni to within five at 13-8. Then a 36-yard razzzle dazzle play gave the Alumni a 14-13 halftime lead. Sam Vacanti passed to Clay White who lateraled to Pat Fischer. Fischer then sidestepped and ran back and forth across the field before breaking loose for the touchdown.

The varsity scored twice in the third quarter on a one-yard run by Fullback Bill Comstock and a four-yard scamper by Left Halfback Pat Clare. After Vacanti sneaked over from the one to pull the Alumni to within nine at 29-20 early in the fourth quarter, Thornton broke loose on his electrifying run.
